Author workshop held at Central Library, BUET

Ahasan | Dhaka | Dec 8, 2017

An Author Workshop organized by Central Library, Bangladesh University of Engineering Technology (BUET) in collaboration with Elsevier was held at the central library seminar room on December 4, 2017.

Dr Sangeeta Mehta, Regional director-South Asia- research solution sales, Elsevier, talked at length on Author Workshop.

Dr Sangeeta discussed in detail about different types of manuscript, author and different parts of a good write up. She outlined the dos and don'ts that every author should know for publishing an article with a good publisher; checklists for authors in getting high Hirsch Index (h-index). Her presentation focused on importance of collaboration with editors and publishers before author's manuscript, editorial and production processes, benefits of electronic publishing and its global reach. She also highlighted Mendeley – A reference manager tool, one of the Elsevier's services, which can help an author in managing the references or bibliography.

At the end of the workshop, Dr Sangeeta took questions from the participants and clarified their queries. The participants learnt some crucial points about the publication of research paper and it imparted a velocity to the upcoming publications.

NSU Library organized Elsevier Author Workshop

Apu| Dhaka | Dec 8, 2017

North South University Library and the Office of the Graduate Studies, North South University jointly organized an Author Workshop on 6th December 2017 from 3.00pm to 5.00pm at NSU Syndicate Hall. The theme of the workshop was organized "Author Workshop on Scholarly Writing & Intellectual Ethics".

The workshop was conducted by Dr Sangeeta Mehta, Director, South Asia

Research Solution, Elsevier. The workshop focused on the area of "Introduction to scholarly publishing, Plan and Structure your article and best practices sharing, Peer Review, Writing a lay summary: Getting noticed, Publishing ethics and Plagiarism, Free Resources". She outlined about various prospects and detailed course of action one goes through and the troubles faced during research paper approvals as well as in other eBook platforms.

The workshop started with the welcome addresses by NSU Pro Vice-Chancellor (Designate) Professor Dr Gias U. Ahsan, Graduate Studies Director Professor Dr Sharif Nurul Ahkam, and University Librarian Dr Md. Zahid Hossain Shoeb.

MM Shoeb, Sr. Assistant Librarian, North South University anchored the whole programme. Publishing research in well known peer-reviewed publications is one way that researchers build a reputation in their community and allow the wide dissemination of their work. NSU faculty members are familiar with this process; however, listening from the leading publisher is something different and effective too.

A good number of faculty members from different disciplines attended the workshop. The workshop ended with an interactive Question/Answer session.
