A review and consultancy meeting on the progress of library automation and digitization activities by BANBEIS was held on 09 November 2017 at BANBEIS conference room. Stakeholders and library experts in the country joined at the programme. Mr. Minhaj Uddin Ahmed, Mr. Md. Hossam Haider Chowdhury, Dr. Nasiruddin Mitul, Dr. Shusmita Das, Tanjeba Shoma, Ms Farida Yeasmin and AKM Nurul Alam were present at the program as Library Expert in the meeting. Mr. Md. Fashiullah, Director, BANBEIS was the chief guest of the program. Sheikh Mohammed Alamgir, Specialist (Statistics) presented the overview on the activities of BANBEIS and Dr. Md. Mizanur Rahman, Librarian spoke on the overall scenario of their library automation and digitization program. Dr. Nasiruddin Mitul and Mr. Md. Hossam Haider Chowdhury opined that a prescribed form can be given to the stakeholders and type the bibliographic information on the word/excel file and the BANBEIS team can transfer them to their software. Mr. Chowdhury also told that a document once digitised is digitised forever. The participating libraries may not have internet connection or proper training, but they can use word or excel to type the bibliographic information. Mr. AKM Nurul Alam proposed Senayan Library Management System – SLiMS can be installed on BANBEIS server and every institution can use this hosting facility to automate their library. He also addressed that SLiMS has very easy and user friendly interface and school and college librarians may easily adopt this software. Stakeholders told that due to server access problem and lack of follow-up, they couldn't continue the program. They requested BANBEIS to revive the activities and train-up them to handle the software. Director assured that after getting the status from all participating institutions, they will take necessary steps to continue the program actively. He also informed that a new server is going to be installed for library software.

From secret student archives to crusty old microfilm: Tales from the international ILL world

Stacy Brunner | 31 October 2017

Back in 1988, one of my OCLC colleagues worked at The Ohio State University Law Library as a work-study student. Recently, he told me a story about going deep into the basement to the compact storage units to retrieve an 1870s law book to photocopy some Ohio municipal codes for a library in Japan. He mailed the document to the library the next day using the US Postal Service.

Library Association Bangladesh gears up for 2017 LAB election Who Will Lead the LAB?

Almost every country in the world has the professional organisation for library and information services sector. They provide the national voice of the profession in the development, promotion and delivery of quality library and information services, through leadership, advocacy and mutual support. Similarly the Library Association of Bangladesh was established to provide leadership for the development, promotion, and improvement of library and information services in the country. The LAB has been working for the librarianship profession in order to enhance learning and ensure access to information for all since its establishment in 1956.

Indication shows how much progress has been made in the library and information sector in the recent years. There were, of course, huge effort was given by our previous LAB leaders in Bangladesh. But there are still some burning issues left quite unfocused. The aim of today's editorial is to focus on these questions to draw an attention to the upcoming LAB leaders.

The Library Association Bangladesh is gearing up for its upcoming election. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and will be continuing till 3 p.m. on Friday, 29th December 2017. We are observing the campaign for the Association's elections is in full swing. Candidates are engaged to gain support from professional members and different councils zones for the elections scheduled to be held on December 29.

The elected members have a critical role to play in a world where challenges to intellectual freedom, equitable access to information, and informed citizenship seem greater than they have in decades. The candidates should make sure their commitment to further reform of the library professional portfolio based on organisations and individual educational qualification and experiences. Similarly they should clarify about their plans and policies to organise fund for librarianship research and innovation? What role they see for libraries in helping to deliver digital transformation? How they ensure that libraries are included in the nation's future literacy and learning strategies? How they can leverage government decision makers to endorse library industry as a critical element of the nation's knowledge infrastructure? How will they endorse the aspirational goal of a qualified library professional in every school and college? Is there any consideration on implementing a national database for libraries, archives and knowledge centre in near future?

They should have clear election manifesto in their campaign on organising international conference at least once a year and research seminar on regular basis for professional development.

Are they capable in influencing to existing institutions that teach LIS to modify academic curriculum for world class standard teaching and lifelong learning? The candidates should also declare whether they are considering introducing legislation that library professionals should have registration with professional body. (Akin to engineering, health and other professions requiring practitioner registration?). Are they considering a collaboration effort between other board like UGC for developing a national policy of library consortium in favour of resource sharing, purchasing, accessing resources? What are their plans about school/college/madrasa librarian's portfolio and their qualification? The candidates should have clear goal on what are their thinking on Open Access policy plan for Bangladesh and how they are going to promote this.

We know our infrastructure and resources are limited to think in taking consideration all these hitches to implement in Bangladesh. However, it's time to start thinking on these important issues and taking attention to the greater professional community during the election campaign. Good luck for both panels.
